Abstract

Fmark (Friendly Markup) is a very simple markup language without syntax, capable of producing PDF and XML files, and very simple document but sophisticated styling.

1 The first section

Hello, welcome to Fmark. This is the first section of your document.

1.1 The first subsection

It is very simple to create subsections. No special characters are needed. Simply use indentation to indicate the beginning and end of your sections.

1.2 The second subsection

Another subsection with a different title and a[1]. Again very simple.
